

PHILIPPE GRAFFIN – Programme biography, c. 550 words [valid for 2018/19]

Violinist Philippe Graffin has established an indisputable reputation for his interpretations of the French repertoire, natural perhaps for one of the few pupils of Josef Gingold, himself a pupil of Ysaÿe for whom most of the violin repertoire of this era was written.

Philippe made his first recording with Yehudi Menuhin conducting the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra and his many highly acclaimed recordings since then bear witness to a questing mind and include many world premieres. He has rediscovered original settings of Chausson's Poème and Ravel's Tzigane and has championed the forgotten violin concertos of Fauré and the English composer Coleridge-Taylor, which he has recorded and performed at the BBC Proms. His most recent discovery is a sonata by Ysaÿe, found in a sketchbook held in the library of the Brussels Conservatoire and his edition of the work, to be known as Sonate pour violon seul OP 27bis, will be published by Schott, Mainz.

As concerto soloist, he has performed with some of the foremost orchestras in Europe, such as The Philharmonia, BBC Symphony, BBC National Orchestra of Wales, Royal Liverpool Philharmonic, Deutsche Radio Philharmonie Saarbrücken, Georges Enescu Philharmonic, Gothenburg Symphony, the Residentie Orkest, Gothenburg Symphony, Czech Philharmonic, Orchestra di Padova et del Veneto, St Petersburg Philharmonic, Orchestre Philharmonique de Radio-France and Orchestre National de l'île de France.

Philippe was the founder and artistic director of "Consonances", a chamber music festival held in St Nazaire, France, from 1990-2015 and he has curated numerous projects at the Wigmore Hall, London. In September 2017 Graffin curated 'Ysaÿe's Knokke', a festival in Knokke le Zout, where the great Belgian violinist Ysaÿe had his summer residence and in 2018 he curated the Ysaÿe Festival of Japan. In January 2019 Philippe also started a new multi-venue festival in Brussels, called 'Traces'. The second edition of Ysaÿe's Knokke will take place in September 2019.

Graffin performs works of many living composers and has had works written for him by Rodion Shchedrin, Vytautas Barkaukas, David Matthews, Philippe Hersant, Yves Prin, Peter Fribbins and Marcelo Nisinman. Philippe has shared the stage with some of the great artistic personalities of our time, from Lord Menuhin and Mstislav Rostropovich, to the actor Gerard Depardieu, with whom he created a project in Brussels, at Flagey, exploring the relationship between poetry and music, recorded and documented by Belgian Television RTBF. .

His discography of over thirty CDs includes the three Saint-Saëns concertos, world-première recordings of concertos by Samuel Coleridge-Taylor, Frederic Cliffe, Frédéric d'Erlanger, Philippe Gaubert, Joseph Jongen and Tauno Marttinen. A champion of British repertoire Philippe has also recorded the violin concertos of Britten, Delius, Elgar and David Matthews as well as the works written for him by Barkauskas, Prin and Shchedrin. His recording of the Tchaikovsky concerto is the first with the cadenza written by Ysaÿe and he has also recorded the complete Ysaÿe sonatas. Graffin's most recent release is 'Fiddler's Blues', a CD which includes the world première recording of Ysaÿe's Sonate pour violon seul Op 27 bis and works by Enesco, Ravel and Debussy. It is released by Avie whose catalogue includes his earlier CD of works by the same composers, 'In the Shade of Forests'.

Philippe Graffin is a professor at the Paris Conservatoire National Supérieur de Musique (CNSM) and at the Brussels Conservatoire Royal. He has a long-standing musical partnership with Claire Désert.
